The case of William Bennett, the white man charged with the ruin of his grand-daughter. Mattie Newman, has eleited widespread interest in Henrico county and is a subject of much discussion at the court-house. Commonwealth's-Attorney Sands is making an active investigation of the matter. Yesterday Mr. Sands visited the home of the accused, where Mattie Newman resides, with the intention of secing the girl, but as she is still quite till he decided to postpone the interview. He talked with the wife of the prisoner, but she was absolutely non-committal.

The contest in Henrico county over the clerkship of the County Court continues to be warm and interesting. At a political meeting held at Howard's Grove last night about 200 voters were present. There were also a few "boys" from Richmond in attendance. Mr. P. R. Norman spoke in behalf of the candidace of Captain W. J. Binford and Messrs. S. P. Waddill and William H. Sands presented their own claims to the assemblage. The meeting was one in which good order was observed throughout.

The Children Became Excited. Considerable excitement was caused among the children of Central School about 11 o'clock yesterday morning by the burning of a chimney of a house near by. A BOARD OF HEALTH. Flequet, Clemenceau, and De Freyeinet

THE GOVERNOR WILL SOON APPOINT ONE FOR THE STATE.

The Matter Taken Up by the Chamber of Commerce and Endorsed by Leading Physicians.

The Chamber of Commerce is bringing its influence to bear in that direction, the leading physicians heartily endorse the idea, and the Governor is in full accord with the movement.

We will, therefore, have a board, and it will be appointed in a short while. The danger of cholera coming to America this summer unkes it especially desirable that such a body shall be established for general advice, both in efforts to fight against the introduction of the dreuded dis-ease and to prevent its spreading should it be brought into our midst. WAITED ON THE GOVERNOR.

WAITED ON THE GOVERNOR.

The committee, consisting of Messrs, E. H. Binsell, S. H. Haves, and Dr. Charles M. Shelds, appointed by the Chamber of Commerce at the meeting Thursday evening to present to the Governor the potition of the chamber for the establishment of a State board, performed that duty resterday afternoon and submitted the following names for the Governor's consideration: Drs. George Ben. Johnston, Hugh M. Taylor, and W. A. Deas, of Richmond; Robert D. Meliwaine, of Petersburg; William H. Harrison, of Reanoke; G. T. Klepstein, of Alexandria, and Kirkland Ruffin, of Norfolk.

The Governor will certainly appoint a board, and has taken the names submitted under advisement.

VERY STRONGLY ENDORSED.

The movement for a board is endorsed by Drs. George L. Stone, W. T. Oppenheimer, H. Wythe Davis, J. B. McCaw, Hunter McChure, George Ben Johnston, George Ross, Christopher Tompkins, E. T. Robinsen, M. D. Hoge, Jr., John Dunn, Charles M. Shields, Daniel J. Coleman, J. N. Upshur, J. A. White, W. R. Gray, R. D. Garcin, J. P. Roy, W. W. Gibbs, J. J. McCornick, Lewis C. Bosher, W. A. Deas, W. A. Lee, E. C. Levy, H. Cabell Tabb, J. S. Wellford, Hugh M. Tarbor, C. W. P. Brock, Paul A. Irving, Landon B. Edwards, and others. All these consider that there is danger of the cholera finding a lodgment in this country next summer, and think great benefit would be derived from the appointment of a State Board.

The letters from these gentlemen were written in response to a circular one sent out by Chaurman Bissell of the Chamber's Committee on Health and Sanitation, siking the following questions:

1. In your opinion, is it probable that cholern will gain entrance to this country this year?

2. Would the State Board of Health, effi-

The lecture-room of the Grace-Street
Presbyterian charch was filled last night to its utnest capacity by an audience composed of young and old to hear, what Captain Cussons had to say upon "My Life Among the Indians," and for an hour and a half no word that fell from the lecturer's hips seemed to be unappresated.

hand a group of Indian tents; he was alone and not a futtle perplexed at hus situation, fearing to retreat or to advance, but finally determined on the latter course and rode beldly into the camp, dismounted, turned his horse loose, and walked into the best tent he saw and sat on the ground. No hostility was then prevailing between the whites and Indians, but the intruder was very uncertain that his reception would be hospitable. Sitting within this tent was an Indian youth who was one day to become known the world over as Sitting Bull. The other occupants were a young man, who afterwards became a warm friend of the adventurous Virginian, a little girl who ran and hid under the buffalo "blankets," and an old woman who gave min a chunk of dried meat to eat. Not without many misgivings as to his safety did the young stranger fall to sleep that night in the Indian tent to awake the next morning much refreshed.

The speaker continued by telling his hearers that the next morning he declined to ride back to Captain Dawson, having fully made up his mind to spend some while not overburdensome with their lospitality, were yet kind, and remained so during his entire stay with them.

Courtship Cussons went on to give some Captain Cussons went on to give some account of the Indian language, which it took him about five months to acquire, and which was of great service to him, especially since the Indians began after that to treat nim more corduilly. The Captain described in eloquent words the simple romance of an Indian courtship and marriage, the vows of which were faithfully kept till death. To many persons doubtless that part of the lecture was most entertaining, which vindicated the Indians from the aspersions heaped upon them, and the simple virtues of a decaying race were vividly painted. In speaking of "treachery" the lecturer gave a graphic account of the battle in which General Custer lost his life. The lecture was closed by an eulogium of Stating Bull, the valiant leader and skilful tactican, who at last fell by the treachery of the whites. It is seldom that so pleasing and instructive a lecture is heard. COURTSHIP AND MARRIAGE.

JOHNSTON OUT ON BAIL. Released on $300 Bond-The Case Will Bo Heard Wednesday.

Robert E. Johnston, the young man wh Robert E. Johnston, the young man who was in jail here charged with getting $55 worth of clothing from Messrs. A. Schnurman & Sons under false pretences, was taken before Judge Witt at 6 o'clock vesterday afternoon and allowed to give bail in the sum of $300. Major Silles was bondsman for the accused. Only a few persons were in the Hustings Court when the prisoner was brought up by Deputy-Sergeant Claiborne Epps, and the proceedings which temporarily liberated young Johnston were of short duration.

A NOTE FROM COLOREL SPOTSWOOD.

A NOTE FROM COLONEL SPOISWOOD.

About an hour beforehand the brother of the accused, a member of the Legislature of West Virginia and editor of a paper at Union, Monroe county, that State, called at the Hustings Court, accompanied by a Richmond newspaper-man. Mr. Johnston presented Judge Witt with a note from Colonel Spotswood, Commonwealth's attorney, stating that $330 bail would be satisfactory to him. The gentlemen had called upon Colonel Spotswood at his home, on east Frankin street, where he was found sick. Being unable to go to the court-room, the Commonwealth's Attorney sent the communication to Judge Witt.

Witt.

Upon the presentation of the letter to his Honor, Mr. Epps was sent for the prisoner, and an hour later Major Robert Sulles, bondsman for the accused; Mr. D. C. Richardson, his counsel; Johnston's brother, Johnston himself, and one or two others entered the Judge's office and the necessary bail was promptly given.

The brothers left the court-room and went to a well-known private boarding-house, where they will reside until after the hearing on the 15th.

GETTING UP A FUND. GETTING UP A FUND.

Friends of young Johnston have been engaged for the past two days in getting up a fund to defray the expenses of his trial. More than one hundred dollars has been raised, but it is understood that this money will not be used, as it is probable that funds will be obtained from young Johnston's relatives. Parts, March 10.—When the Panama trials were resumed to-day M. Florv, the government accountant who had been appointed to examine the accounts of the Panama-Canai Company, repeated in the main the figures and statements already given in his published report. He estimated that the Panama-Canai Company had expended 195,000,000 of francs in payment for newspaper advertising and for favorable notices in the newspapers and other services connected with the general puffing of the enterprise. About 553,000,000 of francs, being less than half the total amount subscribed, had been expended in actual operations on the canal. The present assets amounted to 200,000,000 francs. Charles Floquet, ex-Premier, and ex-President of the Chamber of Deputies, was the next witness. He was nervous and pale. Before examining him Judge Desjardins had Charles de Lesseps repeat his testimony as to the contribution of 200,000 francs made at M. Floquet's request by the Fanama Company to the fund for the campaign against Boulanger in the Department of the North. In concluding his statement, M. de Lesseps said: "I render all homags to the delicacy and loyalty which distinguished M. Floquet's conduct, but I declare positively that he made to me the exact proposals already made for him by Arton."

M. Floquet replied at once, in a loud but unnatural tone: "I repeat the demal already made by me before the examining magistrate. The manner of acting and speaking attributed to me by M. de Lesseps are entirely foreign to my personality. As M. de Lesseps puts the matter it is much werse than if I had brought pressure to bear upon him, as he complains everybody else did. In his testimony he has forgotten, however, that I did not assume office until April 3, 1888, and that the election took place April 15th and the voting of the lottery loan bill on the 27th."

Loud protests came from the body of the court, and several persons shouted. "Tell the truth!" The presiding judge's call for order only evoked more shouts, and his voice was lost in an uproar as he threatened to have the court cleared. Both M. de lesseps and M. Floquet tried to make statements, but neither could be heard more than a few feet away. Each denied flatly the truth of what the other had said, but only the reporters caught their words. ANOTHER SENSATION. ANOTHER SENSATION.

M. Clemencean created a sensation by turning upon M. Barboux and accusing him of having imparted to the Figure part of the testimony given before Examining-Macistrate Franqueville. The lawyer looked petrified as Clemencean almost shouted this charge against him. He was too much astounded to say a word until Judge Desjardins demanded that he answer Clemenceau's charge.

He said: "I will answer in time. I do not care now to come to blows with the witness."

not care Low to come to blows with the witness."

Clemenceau then turned savagely upon Charles de Lesseps and challenged him to contradict the statements he had made. M. de Lesseps remained silent, however, except when Clemenceau was attacking Barboux, then he nodded assent. M. de Freyeinet also several times dared De Lesseps to contradict him, although in the main he admitted the truth of M. de Lesseps's accusations. Throughout the sitting M. de Lesseps was less nonchalant than yesterday and seemed to be harassed by the repeated cross-fire to which he was subjected by the witnesses and judge.

West Virginia planters are unloading their to-bacco largely in our market at, to them, very satisfactory prices. Brights sold at tip-top-prices to-day. The warehouses have enough to-bacco to keep breaks full for next week, including that on the floor at depots and already advised as shipped; there is over a week's supply. Every sale on this market orings another as ant as Allen & Ginter sales go out. Our turers should appreciate the fine class and quality of the weed finding its way to Richmond, and should remember that our breaks are far over antabove the average in quality on other markets, so that the high prices paid are fully justifiable. The warehouses have worked hard and at heavy expense to secure this first-class trade for our city. Yestorday's average at Plantets for one crop was $18,45.

There was a small offering of old sun-cured on Change to-day, with prices up to 1654e. Values were about the same as last sales six weeks ago. Stemuting crops were seld to-day on Change. The lugs rule at 414 to 5c. in soft order.

Wilson and Rocky Mount, N. C., says the crop in south Carolina is in and 65 per cent. In Eastern North Carolina. The bright crop in most smaller markets is culled, 65 per cent. to 67 per cent. delivered. Dark breaks are falling off. Houshead sales rather increasing.

Thursday's Courier-Journal reports the Louisville market stronger and higher on medium grades for the week.

The dark break to-day, for a Friday, shows a failing off in quantity and no change in prices. NORFOLK PEANUT MARKET. [Reported for the Dispatch.]
